Krause Health & Safety

Company Profile

Krause Health & Safety Pty Ltd provide professional safety and training services to some of Australia's largest companies for basic day to day business operations through to major projects. Krause Health & Safety are based in Mount Isa and service the local Mount Isa and North West region of Queensland with experience and focus on mining, construction and commercial industries.

Krause Health and Safety are available to travel anywhere within Australia to supply quality and professional services, and we can also develop targeted training for your company.

History

Krause Health & Safety was established in 1996 by Bill and Marion Krause. Bill Krause worked in the mining industry for over 30 years and 16 of those were in safety and training. Bill applied all that experience and knowledge into Krause Health & Safety and established a well-recognised company with a reputation for honesty, reliability and professionalism.

Mission:

To be a leading business providing expert training and health and safety advice to the mining, industrial and commercial businesses of the North West region emphasising quality and customer service.

Purpose:

We exist to provide the industries established in this geographical area with a first class Workplace Health, Safety and Training Provider.

Krause Health & Safety guarantee that they will act at all times in a professional manner, be open and honest with all clients and deliver services with a satisfactory outcome. We value our reputation and that of all our clients. We understand the importance of open honest communication and also how safety and training are a corner stone of maintaining safe productive workplaces.
